Police to get tough with fake ID users

DEBRA FOX

UNDERAGE drinkers in Haverhill who have got away with using someone else's ID could now be faced with a criminal record if they try it again.

Suffolk Police have introduced a false ID seizure scheme to stop underage punters getting into bars, clubs and pubs.

Instead of just being told to leave, bouncers will now put in a call to police to deal with individuals on the spot.

PC James McAuley, of the Nighttime Economy Team, says that dealing with underage drinkers in this way will help the seriousness of what they are doing sink in.

It is also hoped that the message will get across to over 18s who are putting themselves at risk by lending out their driving licence or passport to younger people.

He said: "Underage drinkers who get away with using their brother's, sister's or friend's ID won't be able to do it any more."

PC McAuley said legal drinkers are now well used to being checked for ID, and this has led to a rise in identification cards being leant out, or fake ones being made.

The false ID seizure scheme was piloted in Ipswich and has now been rolled out in Bury St Edmunds, Newmarket and Sudbury.

During the pilot period, which ran from April 2011 until December 2012, 182 potentially fake IDs were seized and 112 of these had police action taken against them.

BUSTED: PC James McAuley pictured with some of the seized IDs. Over 18s can also get in trouble for lending out their cards.

The penalty given to an underage drinker can depend on a lot of criteria including previous cautions or convictions, how they behaved when trying to get inside a bar or pub and how they reacted when the police were called.

Stopping culprits before they even have the chance to make a purchase takes away the risk of bar staff serving drinks illegally and also takes pressure off door staff.

The main aim of the scheme, PC McAuley says, is to educate young people about the dangers of alcohol and encourage them to make positive choices instead of succumbing to peer pressure.

Premises who serve alcohol to underage people can face a maximum penalty of £20,000 or face closure for between 48 hours and 14 days.

PC McAuley said: "We can bring people to court to fine them or we can arrange closure – which is our choice not theirs.

"We can cherry pick when we think would have the most impact, such as the beginning or end of the month when people have been paid, not the middle part where people have no money."

Inspector Peter Ferrie, of Haverhill Police, has praised the entrance policy in the town's bars and pubs.

He said: "This scheme is a really good idea and one me and all the officers are happy to support."

Another method being used by the force to try and reduce underage drinking in the town and across the rest of the county is to carry out test purchasing in off licences.

Since February, six test purchases have been carried out in Haverhill. Four of them failed.

PC McAuley said that test purchasing operations are done on places they believe are selling alcohol to young people.

He said: "We act on intelligence – some places seem to think we pick on them, but we don't. We send under 18 volunteers to try and make a purchase."

The plan is to be extended across the whole of Suffolk.

HAVERHILL Leisure Centre is celebrating its fourth anniversary today. The centre, on Ehringhausen Way, Haverhill, re-opened on July 4, 2009, after a £5.2 million refurbishment. Centre Manager James Purkiss, who has been in charge for two years, blew the candles out alongside his staff. He said: "It's a growing company and all the staff work really hard. "We have gone from strength to strength over the last four years."

The award-winning centre has had more than a million visitors since reopening in 2009. Haverhill Leisure has also done its bit for charity by holding a bumper zumbathon and raising thousands for Sport Relief.

Brothers walk 62 miles in 24 hours

DEBRA FOX

A FATHER and an uncle donned their walking boots and took on a mammoth challenge.

Robert Marshall, 29, and brother Paul, 28, pledged to do a 24 hour walk for the Addenbrooke's Charitable Trust.

They walked 62 miles from Haverhill through Bury St Edmunds and Newmarket to the hospital and back for Robert's son Jayden, three, who has suffered with haemophilia since birth.

The three-year-old has so far received 50 treatments from the haemophilia department at Addenbrooke's and has also undergone three operations over the last seven months.

He now gets treated by Robert and wife Helen, 30, at home in Elmdon Place, Haverhill.

The dad-of-two said: "Every time there was a bump or an accident we ended up at the hospital.

"Sometimes he can't even walk because he says his legs hurt so much and other times he's running around.

"If he's had a good week, we know it's going to drop the following week."

Robert decided he wanted to do something for the hospital department who have done so much to support his family.

He and Paul set off from Haverhill at midday on June 14 and arrived back on the 15th.

They also carried 40lbs of kit on their back.

So far, the brothers have raised more than £1,500 with money still to come.

Robert said: "We didn't expect that we would reach £1,000.

"All of our friends and family have really stuck together and helped us.

"I have learnt a lot from it if I do something like this again."

Robert revealed that he already has his thinking cap on for an event in 2014 or even 2015.

He has well and truly been bitten by the chariti bug.

Footy star takes school trip down memory lane

A FORMER student who's made the big time returned to his school in a special visit.

Charlton Athletic defender Michael Morrison spent the day at Place Farm and Castle Manor, fondly reliving his school days.

The footballer, who also serves as vice-captain at the club, toured both campuses and even took a look at the site on which the trust plans to build a new All-Through Academy.

The visit came after Michael invited Castle Partnership Principal Madeleine Vigar and her dad, a lifelong fan, to watch a match.

Ms Vigar returned the favour by extending her own invitation.

The defender said: "It's brilliant to come back and see the schools I loved so much."

Superheroes mural brightens up school

A SAMUEL Ward teacher visited a feeder primary school to give students a lesson in mural painting.

Miss Hopkins, who teaches media at the academy, and three Year 10 art and design pupils visited Kedington Primary School to make a group picture.

They decided on superheroes as a theme, to inspire the youngsters to reach their goals in life and represent resilience and learning power.

Miss Bagshaw, of Kedington, said: "All of the children thoroughly enjoyed the day and feel proud of what they achieved. The super heroes link fits in beautifully with our building learning power ethos and it makes the area much brighter and nicer to be in. It was a great success."

PRESENTATION: Former mayor Cllr Tim Marks, centre, handed over the money to his chosen charities.

Mayor makes his mark on chosen charities of the year

THE former mayor of St Edmundsbury rounded off a year of hard work by presenting money raised to his chosen charities.

Mayor for 2012/13 Cllr Tim Marks and wife Margaret raised more than £7,000 for St Nicholas' Hospice and REACH Community Projects Haverhill. Themed dinners, a cheese and wine evening and a zumba Christmas party were just some of the events that helped the Mayor and Mayoress raise thousands of much needed pounds for the organisations. A black tie ball, a car boot sale and a reception at the West Wing, Ickworth were also held.

The pair presented the cheques, each for £3,600, to representatives from the charities on June 27 at the Mayor's Parlour.

Cllr Marks was succeeded earlier this year by Cllr Terry Buckle, who has taken up the position of Borough Mayor for 2013/14.

Cllr and Mrs Marks will serve as deputy mayor and mayoress until 2014.

Stolen car found on fire

A SILVER Corsa stolen from outside a Haverhill home was found alight a few hours later.

The car was parked in the street at 8.45pm on Friday, June 29. It was discovered in Ashdon Road, Saffron Walden, Essex, at 2.25am on Saturday morning.

Anyone with information about this crime is asked to contact PS Stuart Manels at Haverhill Police Station on 101 or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Author to educate others

A TEACHER inspired by his time in the classroom has written a book about helping young people with learning difficulties.

Personalised Learning for Young People with Profound and Multiple Learning Difficulties was written by teacher Andrew Colley, who believes he has the key to helping students develop.

Andrew teaches at Granta School in Linton and before that spent time at Edith Borthwick School, Essex.

He said: "It's not about having a strict curriculum it's about finding out how one of them can learn, which is important."

Showcase from students

PUPILS from Samuel Ward Academy are bringing an evening of pure entertainment to the school later this month.

The Year 11 Performing Arts, Media, Music and Dance students will strut their stuff and show their skills to an audience of parents, friends and guests.

The choir and chamber choir are also taking part in the free performance, bringing the total to 60 students.

The event is taking place at the school on July 14 from 7pm. Donations, which will go towards St Monica's school in Kenya, are welcome.

County saves £3.5m

DEBRA FOX

SUFFOLK County Council ended the financial year having underspent by £3.5m and determined to make a head start on tightening its belt in preparation for the next four years.

The saving, which took place despite an already reduced budget being put in place for 2012/13, is set for discussion at the council's cabinet meeting on July 9.

Cllr Colin Noble, County Council member for finance and property, said: "I am delighted to be able to present this report to the cabinet, it demonstrates how the council has applied good financial management to both keep spending within a significantly reduced budget and deliver an underspend."

Despite the mammoth saving, which equates to 0.7 per cent of the council's net budget, the report says that further steps need to be taken to ensure the council stays in a healthy position in years to come.

An estimated £156m needs to be saved by Suffolk County Council over the next four years, and it is hoped that by the end of 2013/14 £56m will have been saved.

The councillor said: "We must not rest on our laurels as the savings required in the coming years will be on a completely different level."

"The council is facing continued financial pressure and difficult choices lay ahead."

"However through increased transformation of services, innovation and collaboration I am confident that this council will face these challenges head on."

The report also details savings made across specific services, including Children and Young People, where £31,000 was saved and Public Health, which saw an underspend of £75,000.

The council's total outturn on March 31 this year was £3.8m less than the approved budget, which had seen a cut of £26m at the start of the year.

The total came to rest at £3.5m when Suffolk County's Dedicated Schools Grant was deducted.

Annual show this weekend

HAVERHILL'S annual show will return this weekend on the town's recreation ground. The Haverhill Show, run by Mick Driver, will be under way on July 6 and 7 with activities for everyone. All traditional fun will be on offer, including a dog show and a baby show, as well as the chance to pick up a memento from a stall. Saturday will be the show's fun day with a funfair starting at 11am. The shows will take place on Sunday, including a display of classic cars and the chance to win a Mini. Mr Driver said: "We just want to have lots of fun." The show starts both days at 8am with a car boot sale.

Recruitment gets under way

ESSEX police have launched their first recruitment campaign for five years. The force, who started searching for new officers on Monday, have not accepted recruits from outside the police since 2008. The new intakes will start in 2014, and applicants must be living in Essex at the time of entering and, if successful, during the probationary period. Serving PCSOs and Special Constables with independent patrol status will also be eligible.

Sit down for breakfast

HAVERHILL'S mayor is attending a charity breakfast at the town's Frankie & Benny's. The restaurant, on Ehringshausen Way, will offer a free breakfast on July 12 from 8am until 12pm. All guests have to do is book a table for the morning and make a donation on arrival in exchange for their meal. Money raised is going towards Debra, a charity working to help those with a skin blistering condition. Visit www.debra.org.uk for more information and call the restaurant on 01440 766370 to make a reservation.

Stunt team put on show

A MOTORCYCLE stunt team made a rare appearance in East Anglia. The Ken Fox Troupe Motorcycle Stunt Team wowed the crowds at The Rougham Steam and Country Fair. The nail biting stunts had the audience on the edge of their seats, admiring the skills on display. The team included 18-year-old Alex Fox, the youngest trick rider in the world and lady rider Jaimi Starr, from Haverhill, the youngest straight wall rider in Europe.

Arts Festival wows for another year

DEBRA FOX

THE highlight of Haverhill's cultural calendar ended with a bang after more than a fortnight of fun.

This year's Haverhill Arts Festival, which ran from June 13 until June 30, had a packed programme. Days of family events, musical numbers and dramatic performances finished in festival style with a town-wide street party and community extravaganza on Saturday and a last night of the Proms celebration on Sunday. The party well and truly spilled out onto the streets and a crew of performers from dancers, acrobats and singers to sports players joined forces in the name of festival fun. The summer sun brought even more festival-goers to the front lines where they enjoyed a toe-tapping performance from Swervy World. The curiosity of the day's younger visitors got the better of them when a walking box made an appearance and paraded down the High Street. Nick Keeble, Arts and Leisure Manager for Haverhill Town Council, said: "We were really pleased with the marvellous mixture of madness, magic, miniature and massive men. "The weather was fantastic and so was the response from shoppers. Many of the performers commented on how nice Haverhill people were." Meanwhile, the Community Extravaganza, held on the town's recreation ground and organised by the Castle Partnership, was also action packed. Early years providers from schools and nurseries throughout the town combined their services to provide entertainment for the little ones including face painting, hobby horse racing and a bouncy castle. There was the chance to wrestle in sumo suits, try your hardest to stay on the bucking bronco or take part in other games and challenges. The extravaganza ended with a balloon release in memory of lost loved ones to raise money for East Anglian Children's Hospice. There were also more than 20 other stalls set up on the day each raising money for individual charities. Castle Manor teacher Becky Baldwin, who organised the extravaganza, said: "I am very happy with how the day went. Everyone has been raving about how good it was. There have been lots of happy faces, giant bubbles, ice cream's and inflatable fun." The Arts Festival closed with style on Sunday with a Last Night of the Festival Proms celebration at the Old Independent Church.

A taste of something new in the classroom

PRIMARY school students were invited to get a feel for secondary school life. Year 5 children from Samuel Ward Academy's feeder primary schools attended a day of taster sessions to give them an insight into the new subjects they will take on when they move to big school. The pupils were put through their paces in a session of secondary school PE, before enjoying an afternoon in a technology class. Rob Thompson, Head of PE at Samuel Ward said: "Year 5 pupils had a day of rounders, tennis, cricket and trampolining followed by an indoor athletics circuit. "It was great to link with the schools and get to know them better. The day had two aims: to be active and to be fun. "Our sports leaders did a fantastic job in looking after the pupils and coaching and teaching."

Twenty pupils from Thurlow and Kedington Primary schools tried their hand at design technology for the first time and took part in a Wacky Races project. This involved designing a racer on a computer system and using new skills. James Bleach, Head of DT at Samuel Ward said: "In the afternoon the pupils moved into the workshop to develop car designs for rubber band racers. "This allowed them the opportunity to see the vacuum forming process and Computer Aided Manufacture through the use of a vinyl cutter. "Awards were given out for the best race teams." Other sessions in maths, modern foreign languages, drama, science, English and media were also taking place at the secondary school.

LONDON LEGACY: Adam Baker, Project Manager at Most Active County during the talk

SUFFOLK is aiming to become the most active county as part of the legacy of London 2012.

The hope was that the games would inspire more exercise nationwide and Adam Baker, project manager for London 2012 in Suffolk, explained to Haverhill what the £9 billion investment has done for the county.

During a meeting held in the town on June 20, Mr Baker shared his thoughts on London's legacy.

He outlined the government's 10 point proposal, which includes opening Olympic Park to the public and creating more sports activities in schools for disabled children, and explained that Suffolk is due to reap the rewards of London 2012.

A report by Sport England showed that physical activity across Suffolk had increased 2.4 per cent since October 2011.

If this continues, the county is on the fast track to take the crown for keeping the most active as a result of London 2012.

Pensioner raped two schoolgirls

A MAN has been found guilty of committing two rapes more than a decade ago.

Paul Davey, 63, of Lower Road, Hundon, denied six offences against two schoolgirls but was convicted by a jury at Ipswich Crown Court.

Davey was also found guilty of four indecent assaults and one offence of attempting to procure a miscarriage.

When first interviewed by police, Davey claimed that his victims had made up the allegations and that he didn't know anything about them.

DEBRA FOX

The jury were told that the 63-year-old groomed and manipulated both of the young and vulnerable girls into engaging in sexual activity with him.

Davey also took pictures of one of the girls in her underwear and the other in a wedding dress.

Riel Karmy-Jones, prosecuting, told the jury that one of the young girls became pregnant and Davey tried to force her to have a miscarriage.

Miss Karmy-Jones told the court that Davey had ordered the girl to drink a bottle of gin and try to abort the baby.

After this failed, she later had an abortion and DNA tests confirmed that the baby was Davey's.

The jury were told that the offences were first reported when one of the victims finally contacted police in 2011.

The second girl came forward a year later.

Mr Recorder Richard Atchley remanded Davey in custody until sentencing on July 16.

Agency comes first with money raising raffle

STAFF at a Haverhill recruitment agency have chosen a specialist care home as its charity of the year.

1st Stop Recruitment, based on Jubilee Walk, Haverhill, have already raised hundreds for Essex Care Consortium in Colchester with a fund-raising raffle.

The agency decided on the care home, which provides care and day services for people with learning disabilities aged 18 and above, as its charity because it's very close to the heart of Director Lesley Whiting.

Her son Jamie, 21, suffers from Pathological Demand Avoidance Syndrome – a type of autism – and is a resident at the home.

The company raised £200 from a raffle, which will go towards equipment, and plans to do much more in aid of Essex Care Consortium.

Lesley said: "We are very blessed to have such generous customers and I would like to thank my team for all their hard work in helping me give something back to the home that cares so well for my son Jamie."

A day of picnic food and fun

HUNDREDS of families did not let dull weather get in the way of their fun.

A picnic held by Samuel Ward Academy attracted 350 families.

Year 7 and 8 pupils recruited their families for help in supporting their chosen house charities, Help for Heroes, World Wildlife Fund and Plan.

The school's houses provided home made lemonade, fudge, toffee apples, cakes, and ice cream, as well as manning a make your own sandwich stall, armed with bread rolls.

The stalls and scrum were accompanied by sports - with egg and spoon and sack races taking place, as well as cycling exercises and bobbing for apples.

E R SUPPLIES – ALL GASSED UP

E R Supplies is your local independent tool supplier. The one stop shop carries a large range of fixings for both the trade and the DIY enthusiast. As well as screws, nuts, bolts and washers they also stock hand tools, power tools, sealants and adhesives.

The company has been based in Haverhill since 1990 and has been owned by Alec Bishop since 2002. Since that time the business has grown and the company now supplies a range of building plastics including fascias, soffits, guttering and trims.

The team are committed to providing quality products at competitive prices with good customer service.

Advertisement Feature

E R Supplies has recently started stocking a range of rent free gas cylinders from Hobbyweld, these include welding gas, argon, CO2, oxygen, acetylene and nitrogen. Owner Alec explained that they have had a lot of interest from people who prefer not to pay a monthly rental. The rent free bottles only require a deposit and the cost of the gas.

To find out more, drop in and see the team at their base at 9 Hollands Road, Haverhill CB9 8PU.

You can also call the store on 01440 703991 or visit their website at www.ersupplies.co.uk

Deep cuts are a cause for concern

WHILST elements of last week's Spending Review are encouraging, such as the decision to freeze Council Tax for two years which could save households almost £100, we are concerned about some of the deep cuts planned.

The additional £4 billion reduction in welfare spending will come at a time when millions have already experienced cuts to their benefits, and with Housing Benefit, tax credits, disability benefits and pensioner benefits included in the welfare spending cap that's due to be introduced, the effects could be far-reaching.

Furthermore, many individuals and families may struggle to cope with the seven day delay in claiming benefits. With recent research revealing that eight million Britons have no savings at all, there is concern that people will be forced to turn to food banks and payday loans to make up the shortfall.

We know from speaking to the people we help that pressure on finances is greater than ever. With further public sector job losses and cuts to local services expected, the forecast looks worrying.

It is more important than ever that people can access financial support and advice now. Anyone who is worried about their situation can visit our website – www.turn2us.org.uk to check their entitlements to welfare benefits and grants, find information about further financial help, and find an adviser in their local area.

Please help us care for the bees

BEES in Cambridgeshire and all over Britain are in serious trouble, and that spells bad news for our farmers, our economy and our green and pleasant land.

A comprehensive Bee Action Plan is urgently needed to protect all 267 species of bees and the vital role they play in pollinating our food crops, gardens and countryside.

Without them, it is estimated that pollinating crops through other methods would cost farmers over £1.8 billion, causing food prices to rise dramatically.

Horsing around at an open day

ASPIRING riders of all ages and abilities were invited along for a day of horse play.

Prestige Equestrian Centre at Hill Farm, Bartlow Road, Castle Camps, opened for a day of show jumping on Saturday, June 29.

Around 50 children, adults and ponies spent the sunny Saturday at the new centre, owned by Holly Garrett.

Holly has a National Diploma in Equine and Business studies as well as qualifications from the British Horse Society, and wanted to provide a place where people could hire out horses or bring their own along for a bit of fun and exercise. She said: "This was a big chance to expand and offer something that's affordable for everyone."

"We're offering something at a lower price that local people can come to and just have fun." Saturday saw a range of showjumping classes, with rosettes and trophies handed out.

Prestige also offer riding lessons, horses for sale and many more activities.

Visit www.prestigequestrian.co.uk for more information or call 07929 661075.

OPEN DAY: Symonds House Care Home took part in National Care homes Day on June 21. There was a good response from members of the public, prospective clients, doctors, social workers, carers etc. They were taken all round the home to see where the clients spend their days and they visited the Day Centre where they watched the elderly people take part in various activities. There was tea coffee and sandwiches for everyone.

Symonds house is having a Summer Fete on August 10. There will be stalls, games, refreshments etc.

SPORTS: The Heights Junior School, held their annual Sports Day on June 25. Parents were invited to attend. There were lots of things to take part in including long jump, obstacles and tug of war. The contestants were awarded house points and the 'green house' won. The PTSA provided refreshments for the parents and children. It was a lovely day and everyone enjoyed themselves.

The Infants School were going to join them, but due to an unexpected OFSTED inspection at the Junior School the infants sports were rearranged. It was held at Camping Close the next day.

FESTIVAL: Linton's annual Flower Festival was held on June 21-June 23. The theme this year was "Off the bookshelf." There were thirty eight different arrangements in church, each of which depicted the title of a well known book. On Saturday there was an antiques show on Camping Close. For a donation of £1 for each item the goods were valued by Willingham Auctioneers.

There was entertainment on Camping Close and stalls, games, a football competition, train rides, tombola, bottle stall, raffle etc.

On June 22 there was a concert by the village college Wind Band in church. The church was full for this event. There was a duck race at 11am, after the 10am Festival service. There was Pimms in the pavilion.

Linton Jazz Band gave a performance. There was a children's play area, BBQ, and a guided visit up the church tower to see the bells and teddy bear parachutes from the tower.

WINNER: Thomas will compete in the regional finals in September after coming top of the area heats.

He's full of beans!

Costa barista Thomas proves he's tops when it comes to making coffee . . .

A GOOD cup of coffee can really start the day off properly if the alchemy is just right.

Creating the perfect coffee is no mean feat, but a Haverhill barista is determined to prove he's got the right ingredients to take him to the top of the pack.

Thomas Ross, 26, trumped the competition and came away the winner at the Barista of the Year area heats on June 25 in Braintree.

The 26-year-old was grinding beans and rubbing shoulders with the best of them from Cambridge and Suffolk, but out of the seven competitors he brought home the goods.

Now, the assistant manager at Costa Coffee Haverhill has the regional finals, which will take place in September, to look forward to.

He said: "There are 20 stores in our area and seven people were nominated to go forward."

"There are more than 14,000 baristas working for Costa so it was great to be nominated by my store manager and area manager."

During the competition,

Thomas had to give a presentation and make four brand-standard drinks while being questioned by the judges.

In the next round, he will be given a further interrogation about the company while making more core drinks to the highest standard possible.

Thomas, who has worked for Costa in the town's high street for two years, said that working for the beverage giant is an honour.

As assistant manager, he enjoys being hands-on as much as watching the staff develop their drink-making skills.

He said: "I started off in hospitality and working in kitchens from when I was at a young age."

"There's a massive social side to this job too and I really enjoy pleasing customers and speaking about things that are going on."

"It's not just about me, but everyone on the team."

Smiles all round at ceremony

YOUNG graduates donned their gowns for an emotional ceremony.

The children at Happy Faces Pre-School, in Colne Valley Road, Haverhill, were saying goodbye, prior to heading off to infant school in September.

Each little star was presented with a ribboned medallion, a framed photo of them in their 'graduation gowns' and a scroll of mementoes in honour of their time at the pre-school.

Manager Elaine Hatfield said: "The children have been practising eagerly for some weeks and their performance thrilled us all."

"As the children move on into their primary schools they will be well equipped to continue their journey into learning with a flying start.

"We are so proud of them all," she added.

Town mayor Cllr Roger André and deputy Maureen Byrne also attended to see the graduates on their way.

Summer fayre to help fundraising

THE sunny weekend weather helped friends and parishioners of a local church raise hundreds of pounds.

Haverhill's town mayor Cllr Roger André and deputy Cllr Maureen Byrne attended the summer fayre at St Felix Catholic Church, Wentworth Terrace.

The event, held on Saturday, raised £800 to be shared between the church and the Haverhill and District Flower Club.

St Felix's share will go towards repaying a £150,000 loan given to them by the diocese to help create the new church.

DEBRA FOX

Cllr Byrne urged visitors and guests to dig deep and get the loan paid off.

She said: "I am delighted that the new church and grounds opened up the location for residents and visitors and I hope that it will be more inclusive with more people getting involved in these local activities."

The highlight of the day was the fayre's raffle, which drew plenty of attention with coveted prizes totalling more than £400 in value.

Cllr André announced the day's lucky winners.

The next event in the fundraising calendar is an evening of entertainment and food from Kerala, India.

It will be held on Saturday July 6 at St Felix School Hall.

Email stfelixchurchhaverhill@gmail.com or call the parish office on 01440 702754 to get tickets for the next event.

It costs £12 for adults, £7 for children aged between five and 12 and it is free entry for under-fives.

Vandals target car and puncture tyres

VANDALS targeted a car, puncturing its tyres.

The incident happened between 10.30pm on Saturday and 10.30am on Sunday morning. The vehicle, a grey Vauxhall Corsa, had been left parked in a driveway, in Aragon Road, overnight.

It had its offside front and rear tyres punctured.

The incident happened a day after a silver Corsa was taken from a home in Haverhill and found burnt-out in Ashdon Road, Saffron Walden, on Saturday morning.

Anyone with information relating to this crime is asked to contact PC Daniel Aston at Haverhill Police Station on 101.

You can also call Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Hunt for dog owner after boy, 15, is bitten

POLICE would like to speak to a dog owner who laughed when his pet attempted to attack a schoolboy.

The 15-year-old boy was walking by the railway line in Haverhill with a friend when a dog, believed to be a Staffordshire Bull Terrier, approached the pair.

The dog jumped up and bit the boy's trouser leg. He was not injured, however.

The owner, described as a white male wearing an olive green hoody, rough trousers or jogging bottoms, and dirty trainers, just laughed until the 15-year-old threatened to call police.

The man then became abusive and swore at the boy, who ran off feeling threatened.

Anyone with information is asked to contact PC Matthew Hammill at Haverhill Police Station on 101 or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

WINNER: Gill Payne, who won £100, with Tony Strowger from Tony Strowger Jewellers, and Lisa Haworth from HMP Highpoint.

Gill wins £100 by shopping locally!

A SHOPPER who commended a Haverhill business for outstanding service received her own prize.

Gill Payne, an auditor at Highpoint Prison, won £100 after she joined the Buy Local campaign.

Entrants had to review a local business to be in with a chance of winning a £100 spend at another local business of their choice.

Gill reviewed Quick Service Shoe Repairs, Queen Street, and chose to spend her prize at Tony Strowger Jewellers in the high street.

She said: "I try to support the businesses in town wherever possible.

"Haverhill isn't really a destination that people choose to come to and shop so it's important that local people at least do their bit to support the retailers and businesses in town."

Thebestof Buy Local campaign ran in the first week of June and was supported by Highpoint Prison.

Helping out the hungry

A SUPERSTORE is raising awareness for the hungry by collecting for a food bank.

Haverhill Tesco, in Cangle Road, is encouraging everyone in the community to make whatever donation they can tomorrow and on Saturday.

The store has previously taken part in food drives, and the last one raised an outstanding 1.8 tonnes of groceries for the needy.

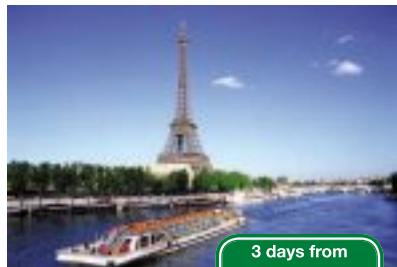

This time, they hope to reach two tonnes through similarly generous donations.

Some groceries needed include long-life milk, sugar, tea bags and coffee as well as soup, pasta sauce and tinned tomatoes.

The supermarket also operates a top-up policy by donating money to the food bank to use on a shop.

Drop in this weekend and make a donation.

Ready, get set... go

HUNDREDS of students were in fighting shape for their school sports day.

Almost 800 pupils from Samuel Ward Academy competed in a range of athletics and games events to a crowd of teachers, parents and visitors.

The youngsters showed their determination by competing hard against each other in every event.

The academy's Head of PE, Rob Thompson, was pleased with the camaraderie and dedication shown by the children in the annual event.

He said: "I was immensely proud to see all pupils fully engaged in activity and competition bringing together all that they have worked so hard for over the last year. "Well done to all."

Man victim of assault

A MAN was taken to Addenbrooke's after a suspected assault.

The incident, which happened at 3am on June 29, saw officers called to Chalkstone Way, Haverhill.

On arrival they found a man in his twenties who was semi-conscious and had head injuries.

A dark coloured Fiat Punto was seen driving away from the area.

Anyone with information should contact police on 101 as soon as possible.

You can also call Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

CARE homes across the county threw open their doors to the public in their first ever national celebration.

On June 21 the first National Care Home Open Day, in association with Care UK, was celebrated.

Place Court, in Camps Road, Haverhill, planned an afternoon of fun and games for residents and their families, while a new eight-bed unit at Eastcotts Nursing Home in Calford Green, Kedington, was opened by Deputy Mayor and Mayoress of St Edmundsbury, Cllr Tim Marks and his wife Margaret.

It is hoped that National Care Home Open Day will raise awareness of the high quality facilities and care that homes up and down the county offer.

Becky Abbink, manager of Place Court, said they try and hold activities for residents as often as they can and try to appeal to individual hobbies and interests.

Becky said: "We know that encouraging people to keep up their interests and hobbies is vital to their wellbeing.

"We try and do as much as we possibly can, but I would love there to be more."

The care home has plans to move to a bigger premises at the Chalkestone Middle School site, upgrading from a 31-bed facility to 60 beds.

New town mayor Cllr Roger Andre attended both events and the Rev Brin Singleton blessed the new unit at Eastcotts.

A group of eager pupils from Castle Manor also took part to get a first hand look at caring for residents.

Angela Park, activities co-ordinator at Eastcotts, said: "They played games with them, they spoke with them and they interacted really well."

"We were very lucky, it was a great day."

Add Finishing Touch to your home décor

IT'S an exciting time for Haverhill interior designer Sarah Gibbs.

After two years in the business, specialising initially in bathrooms and bedrooms while also freelancing in kitchen design as well, her company – Finishing Touch Interiors – was named the “UK’s Most Loved” interior designer at the 14 Days of Love campaign awards in February.

Now the company is expanding, having taken over the kitchen showroom from the business they previously shared premises with, so Sarah can offer a wealth of inspiration, ideas and expertise for anyone looking to spruce up, or completely revamp their bathroom, bedroom or kitchen. They are also now joined in their showroom by Waddup Windows – with fitter Keith Foskitt bringing his expertise honed by years spent hand-crafting kitchens to the business.

Word has spread since winning the award. Sarah’s services, which can include smaller commissions or complete “start-to-finish” gutting and redesigns, have been called on by customers not only from Haverhill itself and the surrounding villages, but also as far afield as Chelmsford and Bury St Edmunds. As Sarah says, “the word gets out!”.

Many customers have discovered Finishing Touch Interiors via the blog at finishingtouchinteriors.blogspot.com, which provides inspiration and ideas for all things interior, from kitchens and bathrooms to fabrics, and more.

Being based a little bit out of the centre of Haverhill itself, on the appropriately-named Homefield Road, has meant comparatively low overheads: savings that Sarah can then pass on to customers in terms of the competitive deals offered on kitchens and bathrooms. Even better, she is currently running a 20% discount offer on all bathrooms (through July and August), and a range of introductory offers on kitchens.

With lots more exciting things planned for the future – including opening a boutique shop to sell the kinds of items currently available online, with larger items of furniture as well – it’s not surprising that Sarah enthuses “I do love my job!”. As the UK’s Most Loved designer, it seems that the feeling is mutual, so why not show your own home some love, by giving it that all-important Finishing Touch.

Finishing Touch Interiors are based at Unit 1, Number 5, Homefield Road, Haverhill, CB9 8QP. Contact Sarah on (07837) 744613 or by email via sarah@finishingtouchinteriors.co.uk.

Rotary Club welcomes a new leader

HAVERHILL'S Rotary Club has welcomed in a new president. Outgoing president Tony Bayley handed the reins to newly-elected Robin Harman, who will spend the next year in charge.

Robin said: "I am looking forward to serving the club as it's president for the coming year. "My emphasis will be on involving the club locally in the Haverhill area as I feel that this is an important part of what we do. "I also hope that by doing this it will raise the profile of Rotary within the local community." Terry McGerty was also chosen as the new vice-president.

Clean sweep for young martial artists

YOUNG martial artists in Haverhill celebrated a full house after a full class passed their grading. Students from the BLTSA school of Tae Kwon Do, where classes are run by Oli Ison, fought their hardest to get to the next level.

Oli, who recently passed his black belt grading, told how proud he was of the youngsters, who have progressed to work on their next belt. The classes are held at Samuel Ward Academy and take place on a

Tuesday and Friday evening. Anyone in interested in taking part is welcome to come along and join in. The first session is free, and there are also discounts available for families. Contact Oli on 07884454044 for more details.

I'm still here – against all the odds

Mike Kennedy was not expected to live to see his son's first birthday. Lisa Millard meets the family man who continues to defy expectations.

MIKE Kennedy remembers 2006 as a year filled with ups and downs. The molecular biologist was living and working in Hampshire with his wife, Lisa, and, his career was going well. While on holiday in Sorrento, Italy, Lisa, then 29, found out she was pregnant.

"It was great," says Mike, smiling ear-to-ear at the memory. "We'd not been trying for that long so we were over the moon." Life was pretty sweet.

That year Mike, who was already diagnosed with Irritable Bowel Syndrome (IBS), went to see his GP when his bowel habits changed. "I told the doctor that it was frustrating because I had to dash to the toilet and, sometimes, I didn't have much warning. I was having a lot of pain in my lower back which is apparently a very common symptom of bowel cancer."

Mike, who is 39 and now lives with his family in Linton, says, in hindsight, he should have asked for a second and third opinion on the back pain, but the new symptoms were masked by the IBS and no further investigation was recommended.

"I know this is very personal," Mike says, laughing softly. "But I'm used to talking about details of my bowel movements now. I go to church and have stood in front of the whole congregation talking about my bowels."

Even when Mike started bleeding from his rectum the doctor suggested it was piles, which also provided a handy explanation of the back pain.

"If it was piles, it was damn painful piles," says Mike. "They gave me various laxatives and ointments and put me on the list to have a sigmoidoscopy (a procedure that allows a doctor to look at the rectum and sigmoid colon). I saw a junior doctor before the appointment to chat through my symptoms and remember him saying because of my age (then 32), there being no family history of cancer, because I didn't smoke and looked after myself, he thought I wasn't anyone to worry about and put me to the bottom of the list."

Mike wasn't worried and Lisa's pregnancy was shaping up nicely. The couple cracked on with some DIY and decorating the house. Their home was in happy disarray preparing for the arrival of the baby.

When Mike finally went for the procedure, in August, he told the nurse he expected it to hurt but she reassured him that a small amount of pain relief would help. But Mike was right: the drugs had to be increased just to be able to insert the tube even a small part of the way. "I was crying out in pain," says Mike. Events did not improve. While Mike was still woozy from the drugs and lying on a stretcher in the corridor, a senior doctor told him he had a large growth in his rectum and they had taken a biopsy. Mike was told to return a week later for a colonoscopy so the medics could take a better look.

"I had all sorts of things going through my mind. I spent every night looking on the computer and had convinced myself by the end of that week that it was cancer. I didn't say that much to Lisa because I didn't want to burden her," remembers Mike.

After the colonoscopy Mike met his consultant, Lieutenant Colonel Edwards (an army doctor) in Frimley, Hampshire, with Lisa and his mother. "He sat us in a room and broke the news, but I could not believe what I was hearing. I don't remember crying, just not being able to take it in. I remember him saying he was going to do everything he could do for us and that things were going to move very fast. Our whole world just fell apart."

Mike was 32 and unable to work. Lisa was 29 and four months pregnant. "The consultant told us a year later that the odds were very slim. I was not only diagnosed with bowel cancer but had secondary tumours on my liver as well. It had already spread.

"There was no cancer in our family. I thought 'Why am I having this?'... It was horrendous for Lisa and my mum: Lisa, not knowing if I would be there to bring up our son, and my mum not knowing if her son would survive."

Things did move fast. Mike had an MRI and CT scan and in early September had to go into hospital to have a stoma and colostomy bag fitted.

"This was the hardest part. I was very glad I was married because I didn't think I would be able to get anyone after that. Normally people would have counselling for this procedure, but they literally told me the day before that there was no choice and I had to have it."

Before the stoma operation, on September 6, Mike had another important appointment at the same hospital. Wearing his NHS pyjamas and pulling a hospital stand alongside him, Mike met Lisa at the ultrasound department for her 21-week scan, the morning before his own surgery scheduled that afternoon.

"That kept me going. I remember seeing the picture on the screen of our baby and seeing clearly that it was a boy. We wanted to know the sex because we didn't know then if I was even going to get through the next three months. I had to make the most of every moment."

The next hit came from the oncologist. "We'd always hoped to have two children but the oncologist said I had to have chemo and radiotherapy and, by the time I'd had it, I would not be able to have children naturally. Even now, when we see some of our friends who have three or four children, it's so painful."

In October Mike had five weeks of medication in tablet form. It floored him. Mike and Lisa relied on support from friends and family. "Every time we got more bad news we would take ourselves round to our church leaders, Dave and Jane, and bawl our eyes out. Our house was in a complete mess and Lisa, who had a huge bump, or me, who couldn't lift anything heavier than a kettle, couldn't do anything about it. Our friends in the church paid for a decorator to come and finish the house and they paid our mortgage for a year. People would give us anonymous donations and it was always at the right time. It was amazing."

Mike recalls low points when he sat in his baby's newly-decorated room late at night crying. "I didn't know if I would get to be a father to my son."

Robbie, was born on January 11, 2007. Time was significant as the couple and their newborn only had three weeks together before Mike had to return to hospital to have the tumour removed from his bowel. "But at least I'd got to meet Robbie, to be there at the birth."

Mike says the couple operated on survival mode. The surgery was followed by further chemo and a liver re-section. A year of normality was broken in late 2008 by the news that the cancer was in his lymph nodes. "Yet again we were devastated. I had a brutal session of chemo in early 2009 but my family kept me going," Mike says. "I was fighting to stay with my family."

It looked like the chemo had worked but more bad news followed in spring 2010;

SUPPORT: Mike and Lisa today

the cancer had reached Mike's abdomen. In 2011 Mike was told he had cancer in his back: a rare and inoperable sacral tumour. Mike admits there have been many moments when he's thought "This is it".

Lisa says she suffered with depression for a time. Watching her husband going through chemo was "like watching someone you love being tortured. As the drugs went in Mike's personality seeped out. He was like a shell. I've had to find my own way of dealing with things and learn to let other people help us. I've had therapy to help me carve a life out not defined by cancer. It can consume you".

A trained singer, Lisa, when not holding family life together, is working towards her operatic dream. As Mike and I chat in the living room I can hear Lisa humming tunelessly in the kitchen.

Throughout his illness Mike has worked when his health allowed. He's survived redundancies and relocations – even when you have cancer life doesn't make allowances. Macmillan helped Mike and Lisa apply for financial help when they needed it.

The couple moved to Linton in 2011, where they have set up home and transferred Mike's hospital care to the Nuffield, Cambridge, when Mike's job moved to Grant Park. He praises Pfizer for their support and is thankful that his healthcare policy allows him access to drugs he would not have got on the NHS. Mike and Lisa also see a psychologist to help them come to terms with their situation. "I think his positive attitude is a big part of why Mike's still here," says Lisa. "And he has a very strong bond with Robbie. They are very close."

In 2007 Mike was told there was only a 50 per cent chance of surviving the next five years. But Mike's still here. Earlier this year, his consultant recommended Cyberknife, a new system that accurately targets radiotherapy to a specific area, followed by six cycles of chemotherapy. Over the last three years Mike has watched as, one by one, all the traditional bowel cancer chemotherapy agents have stopped working. He is now on a drug only approved in the UK in March and his third cycle of six starts the day after this interview.

Despite everything, Mike looks healthy and his outlook remains positive. Robbie is now 6 and adores his dad. There is joy among the suffering: Robbie's first birthday, father's day, family holidays and a surprise birthday party organised by Linton United Reform Church to celebrate Mike's 39th birthday.

"People at church are amazing and can't do enough for us," Mike beams. Robbie's happy at school and is, Lisa says, "a lovely, caring, sensitive little boy". There's a lot to live for.

The future is uncertain and, while the much wished-for, and prayed-for, outcome is not guaranteed, Mike is not a man for giving up. "Most of the time I am an optimistic and upbeat person," he says. "The drugs are still working. It could still be a happy ending."

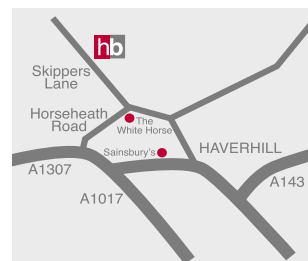

Spot the difference.

Pennies to keep pre-school open

PARENTS and friends of a village pre-school are working hard to keep it open.

Hundon Tiddlywinks pre-school, which currently runs two and a half days a week from the village hall, may face closure in the autumn if enough money is not raised to keep it going.

Dad-of-three Glynn Mitson is one of those helping to put things in place so new attendees can be welcomed through the doors.

It is hoped that the school can continue to provide a service for the village's children and welcome in new starters.

He said: "We have got together and made a plan to convert the committee room in the village hall to use five days a week.

"We need to raise money for this project and the long-term plan is to extend the village hall for us to use."

The pre-school's opening hours are from 9am until 3pm on Tuesday and Wednesday and 9am until 12pm on Thursdays.

The team are planning to extend opening from 8am until 6pm, five days a week, and also add breakfast and after-school clubs.

The pre-school will also be going through a re-brand in September and changing names to Hundon Hedgehogs.

Glynn's sons William, six, and seven-year-old George have been through the pre-school previously and three-year-old daughter Niamh still attends.

Chairman Kelly Mephram said: "Hundon has a wonderful pre-school and an equally lovely primary school, and we hope that our re-launch will encourage families to consider Hundon when deciding where to send their children."

All funds raised from Hundon Garage sale on July 14 will go towards the pre-school. A clairvoyant evening is also being organised.

PRE-SCHOOL: Hundon Tiddlywinks pre-school may shut if money doesn't come in.

ANTICIPATION is building for the Cambridge Summer Music Festival, supported by the Cambridge News.

The two-week classical music extravaganza promises a series of concerts, workshops and recitals suitable for everyone from the hardcore classicist well up on their Brahms and their Mozarts, to novices who just know they quite like strings and the odd piano tune.

All the action will kick off on Saturday, July 20 at King's College Chapel when Brahms's Requiem will be performed by the community based Festival Chorus. A mix of town and gown singers, they will be joined by the East Anglia Chamber Orchestra who are set to recreate Wagner's Siegfried Idyll – a symphonic poem the composer wrote for his wife after the birth of their son Siegfried.

It is the first in a series of three Saturday night concerts (or 'Saturday Sizzlers' as they've been dubbed). On Saturday, July 27 Russian virtuoso pianist Mikhail Rudy will fuse music and visual arts in a performance of Stravinsky's ballet Petrushka, set to a film featuring delicate dancers and eccentric puppets created by London's Little Angel Theatre. The second act – Mussorgsky's Pictures – will play alongside an animated montage of a theatrical version of the piece by watercolour painter Wassily Kandinsky. The final night in the series will see British violinist Tasmin Little and pianist Martin Roscoe join forces on the penultimate night of the festival, August 3. The pair will play works by Kreisler, Mozart, Brahms, Franck and Arvo Part. Plus, if you book tickets to all three, you can take advantage of a 15 per cent discount.

■ Cambridge Summer Music Festival, various locations in Cambridge, Saturday, July 20 – Sunday, August 4. Tickets available from the Cambridge Corn Exchange box office or on (01223) 357851. Visit www.cambridgesummermusic.com for more details and details of the performers in the Fitz Proms, which offer a platform to talented young performers.

A touch of magic

DRAGONS, princesses and a bird catcher called Papegeno; the Cambridge Youth Opera are setting the bar rather high for their latest magical production.

The troupe of 12 – 20-year-olds are performing Mozart's The Magic Flute at Cambridge Junction this week – and it is only be their second ever production created as a group (they performed Purcell's Dido and Aeneas last year).

A cross between a pantomime and an opera, The Magic Flute was written to be funny, and if the basic plot is anything to go by, it's definitely going to be a whirlwind adventure...

It tells the rambling tale of Prince Tamino who gets lost in a mysterious forest owed by the Queen of the Night, and encounters three strange ladies who slay a dragon. The Prince isn't particularly well behaved though and gets sent on a quest to rescue the beautiful Princess Pamina from the clutches of the evil Sarastro with his haphazard friend Papageno (who happens to be all dressed in feathers). There will be tests, weddings and choices to make along the way.

"The story is a bit bizarre," director Caroline Coetzee admits. "You don't want to start checking for continuity!"

The whole production – from design, lighting, stage managing and the live performance – has been put together by the team of more than 40 local youngsters. They've been working on it since last autumn and a "hugely talented" Cambridge University student from Comberton, Alastair Chilvers, is set to conduct it.

When it comes to the staging, expect more rather surprising tricks – all we can tell you is there's a 7.5m silver dragon and lots of nifty, light-related special effects involved.

All Caroline will say is: "The wonderful thing about opera is – I mean, the story is completely ridiculous, it's totally over the top – that goes for a lot of opera, and it means you can put a lot of things into the staging of it. You're not trying to create something natural, which means for the costume designer, or the lighting designer, they can have a vast amount of fun."

They are also all about giving young people a chance to be creative and make the most of opportunities – hence why CYO doesn't charge its members to be involved.

"They are an extraordinarily lovely group of young people, they really are," says Caroline, describing how committed and dedicated the cast are, even holding their own out-of-hours rehearsals.

"They are very collaborative, very supportive of each other."

● Cambridge Youth Opera presents The Magic Flute, Cambridge Junction, until Friday July 5 at 7pm. Tickets £12 from (01223) 511511 / www.junction.co.uk

NOW YOU SEE ME (12A, 115 mins)
NOTHING is what it seems in Louis Letterier's high-stakes game of cat and mouse between four crowd-pleasing Las Vegas illusionists and the FBI.

Every narrative twist could be a double-bluff, every failure a carefully orchestrated diversion and every flirtation a calculated exercise in audience manipulation.

Screenwriters Ed Solomon, Boaz Yakin and Edward Ricourt hold all the aces and for the opening 30 minutes, their collective sleight of hand dazzles and intrigues in equal measure. Now You See Me sets up the tricks, engineers them with elan and coolly reveals the ingenious method behind the on-stage madness. The prologue introduces us to close-up conjurer Daniel Atlas (Jesse Eisenberg), escapist Henley Reeves (Isla Fisher), mentalist Merrit McKinney (Woody Harrelson) and street magician Jack Wilder (Dave Franco). Each performer receives a Tarot card bearing the same information: "March 29, 4:44pm 45 East Evan St. NY, NY".

As instructed, the quartet arrives at an apartment in New York, where a dazzling light show reveals an illusion that will stun the world. One year later, Daniel, Henley, Merrit and Jack are reborn as The Four Horsemen.

In front of a live audience, they choose an audience member at random and magically transport their stooge to a bank in Paris to raid millions from the vault. With their sponsor Arthur Tressler (Michael Caine) and renowned sceptic Thaddeus Bradley (Morgan Freeman) watching in the aisles, Daniel, Henley, Merrit and Jack pull off this seemingly impossible feat.

Within hours, they are under arrest and facing interrogation by FBI Agent Dylan Rhodes (Mark Ruffalo), who doesn't want the case, nor the added distraction of Interpol agent Alma Dray (Melanie Laurent). The cops quickly learn that they underestimate the magicians at their peril.

Ignore the gaping plot holes and Now You See Me is a lot of fun.

The film's pivotal nugget of information becomes blindingly obvious well before Letterier engineers the big reveal, but it doesn't greatly temper our enjoyment, simply giving us more time to piece everything together.

Hidden treasures?

BEFORE you chuck out your old gardening tools or that urn you inherited from your grandmother, check out their value because Jonty Hearnden, presenter of the BBC1 show Cash In The Attic, says you could be sitting on a goldmine. He reckons you may be able to sell anything from old paving slabs to large concrete urns, ancient tools, aged weathervanes and benches for hundreds – or even thousands.

People who've inherited property or are clearing houses for relatives are the most likely candidates to find an Aladdin's cave of treasure in the garden. "The most common items that may be lying around are garden urns or statuary of the 20th century, the moulded urns and the moulded figurines and birdbaths which you think are just old and don't have any value," he says.

"Actually, there's a very good second-hand value for those items because dealers and interior designers like urns which look really weathered. They might only be 20 to 40 years old, but there's a definite market for antique-looking reproduction garden urns and other items."

Such items may be made of concrete, otherwise known as reconstituted stone, and the ones fetching the most money have an 18th or 19th century feel to them, he says. "I went into a shop the other day where there were four identical urns that were 2ft tall by 1ft wide with box bushes in them. They looked a million dollars and they were probably around £400 each."

Birdbaths, weathervanes and other ephemera all have a value, he says. "You could easily get £100 for a birdbath in an auction sale. It has to be weathered so that it doesn't look new, which can take a few years."

Coalbrookdale garden benches, which are made of highly ornate and Victorian-looking cast iron, are extremely sought-after items which can fetch between £3,000-£6,000, he observes. The 19th century benches are often stamped Coalbrookdale or C-B Dale Co, and the seat is probably made of timber slats. "People may be sitting on a fortune because they just don't realise how expensive these benches are," Jonty says.

There is also a market for old garden tools, desired for their craftsmanship. "Garden tools have a certain value. Don't just throw them away. There will be somebody out there who wants them because they

by Hannah Stephenson

VALUE: Jonty Hearnden, right, urges readers to look out for treasures such as this French 19th-century carved limestone planter and these rare Austin and Seeley composition stone Warwick urns from the 19th century, left just love the feel of old wooden handles and cast metalware that's not made to the same standard today. Good places to sell those sorts of objects are eBay and car boot sales, as people will often pay between £10-£30 for old, good quality forks and trowels if they look presentable. Expect to get less on eBay. Go for the car boot sale if you're selling anything under £20."

Also, in a house that is Victorian or older, don't forget to look down, people will pay good money for garden edging tiles from the 19th century. Undamaged marble is especially lucrative and will fetch thousands, while urns and ornaments can make the top hundreds.

Now, a new website, cashintheattic.com, has been launched to help people value their items. After uploading a few snaps of items to the website, experts will value their worth, charging from £5 per valuation. The site can help visitors research pricing and provenance.

Even garden gnomes may fetch a price in the future, Jonty adds. Like the William and Kate gnomes at this year's RHS Chelsea Flower Show. "Those will be worth an absolute fortune one day, simply because they were the first garden gnomes allowed in to the Chelsea Flower Show and due to the subject matter and the fact that she's pregnant with the next in line to the throne, boy or girl."

LOOK OUT

FOR THIS SIGN...

*You will see this logo displayed by people who sell, service or simply fill up cars, trucks and motorbikes. The logo tells you they are accredited members of the Retail Motor Industry Federation

IT IS EXTREMELY IMPORTANT TO USE A REPUTABLE DEALER FOR BUYING EITHER A NEW OR USED CAR.

When looking for a car, there are a number of things to look out for:

- A newly-registered car is sold with a full three year manufacturer warranty. But do read the small print. On used vehicles it is the dealer or a third party provider who supplies the warranty, probably between three and 12 months depending on the age and general condition of the car. RMIF members are obliged to provide a minimum level of warranty as a condition of their membership. However, the length of manufacturer warranties now offered on new vehicles mean that when you buy a used vehicle, it may still be covered by that warranty too.

- When comparing deals use the on-the-road price which manufacturers now recommend. This is made up of the basic ex-works price, value added tax, number plate, delivery charges, and road fund licence, and first registration fee.

SPECIALIST PREMIUM RESIDENTIAL DEVELOPER

City & Country, currently in its 50th year, is the leading specialist in the restoration and conversion of listed buildings and has complex and challenging developments in the South. This family owned business has grown significantly over recent years, with its range of exciting, innovative and multi award winning projects. City & Country has exacting standards, a strong attention to detail throughout its business and takes great pride in the lasting legacy created through its developments.

MANAGEMENT ACCOUNTANT

The growth of the business has created a requirement to recruit a Management Accountant to join an established and successful finance team. The Finance department provides proactive support to the various operating businesses and is central to their continued success.

The Management Accountant role is required to support the Finance Manager in delivering the day to day responsibilities of the Department and is involved in a broad range of tasks across all the companies within the Group including management accounts, forecasts, Group consolidations, cash flow management, VAT returns and various external reports.

Part or fully qualified, the successful candidate will be a confident, inquisitive and detailed individual who can add value to the team whilst delivering high quality work to deadlines and who has the ability to recommend improvements to existing processes both within and outside of the finance department.

The company has recently implemented the COINS operating system for the whole business and advanced knowledge of Excel, Outlook and Word is required.

If you feel you have the experience, drive, enthusiasm and commitment to take on this role then please send a full CV and covering letter with remuneration details to Alan McMeeking at alan@resourcing-solutions.co.uk. To discuss the opportunity on an informal basis please contact Alan on 07767 340920

MARKETING EXECUTIVE

Based in Cambridge

Cambridge News is the leading media business and part of the newly formed Local World Group. Our titles include the award-winning Cambridge news and a wide range of weekly newspapers and regional magazines Alongside our traditional newspaper publishing activities, Local World is also rapidly developing a successful publishing business on the Internet and we now require a Marketing Executive to help to deliver our marketing plans in order to accelerate further growth..

We are looking for a talented and qualified Marketing Executive to help deliver our marketing strategy. The successful candidate will support the Group in delivering effective marketing plans which enhance and promote the performance of our print titles, websites and vertical brands.

LOCAL WORLD

The role will require you to:-

Be involved in the development of marketing campaigns to communicate the benefits of our product portfolio, and drive relevant traffic to and through our websites and vertical brands yielding high quality response, visitor registrations and engagement. To collect and analyse statistics, monitor direct marketing activity and interpret research information to support commercial growth. You will also produce regular market reports, sales support materials and play an active role in commissioned research projects working with an external agency and using appropriate professional techniques and methodologies.

The ideal candidate:-

Ideally you will have a marketing qualification with 2 - 3 years relevant work experience. In return we offer you a competitive basic salary of up to £23,000 dependent on experience with an on-target bonus, plus all the usual benefits, and the chance to work in an innovative and challenging environment.

PROCUREMENT PROFESSIONALS MINISTRY OF DEFENCE, DEFENCE INFRASTRUCTURE ORGANISATION, (DIO)

Salary - £29,258 - £40,122 (dependent on experience) + benefits
Wyton

From unrivalled scale, incredible scope and rewarding complexity. Procurement Officers at the Ministry of Defence provide expert procurement and contract management support to a world class defence force. Across a range of unique and significant projects, you'll help to enhance our £30bn asset base - from new build projects through to our most iconic sites.

Responsible for managing commercial activities across the spectrum of acquisition, you'll add real value to the procurement and acquisition of goods, services, assets and works. Through tendering and negotiation, contract development and management, you'll guide and support Ministry of Defence staff, and forge strong commercial relationships with industry.

You'll demonstrate proven, relevant procurement skills and experience spanning contracting, sourcing, supplier and contract management. Ideally, you've already gained the CIPS qualification - if not, we can support you to do so. Having worked in a complex organisation with large budgets, you're ready to bring new and challenging ideas to our team. In return for your commitment, you'll enjoy excellent benefits and development opportunities.

You can play part in Borough history

Design a kit and win two season tickets

HAVERHILL'S newest senior football team are looking for your help to get their new season off to a colourful start.

Haverhill Borough FC, who will be playing in the Thurlow Nunn League, First Division, are seeking talented artists to come up with a suitable design for their away shirt which will be worn during the 2013/2014 season.

The winning design will become Borough's official away shirt for the whole of the season, with the talented artist receiving not only their own shirt, but two season tickets for the upcoming season of Haverhill Borough matches at the New Croft, Haverhill.

All you have to do is colour in the coupon on the right with your design and either post or email it to us, as per the instructions on the bottom of the coupon.

Please note, the Borough home shirts are blue, so please do NOT use blue to design the away shirts.

Murphy's goal clinches title hat-trick

Victorious: West Wrattling under-13s at the Plantation tournament.

CP

WEST Wrattling under-13s won the annual Plantation Youth tournament for the third year in succession.

Wrattling rode their luck at times during the early stages and they won their semi-final on a penalty shootout thanks to some excellent spot-kicks and a superb reaction save from keeper Charlie Mitchinson.

The final against Plantation Blacks B was closely contested and it was settled by a single goal, Ethan Murphy slotting the ball home after excellent play by Kiernan Harding.

The rest of the team included Aiden Comer, Josh Santry, Ronnie Ledwith and Kieron Lyndsey.

> Baseball

Trebles for Phillips and Highland

STEVEN Phillips and Chris Highland each scored a hat-trick of runs as Haverhill Blackjacks bounced back from a record heaviest defeat to beat Essex Redbacks 15-5 at home in British Baseball Federation, A League.

After fine pitching from Tommy Opal, Phillips and Seb Schmidt both scored runs to give Blackjacks a 2-0 lead after the first inning, and Jerred Estenson extended their advantage to 3-1 after three innings.

But it was the fourth inning when Haverhill went through the gears with Phillips, Schmidt, Opal, Highland and Rob Wood all racking up runs to put them 8-2 up.

Phillips, player-coach Steven Esdale, Highland and Wood added four more in the next inning before Ryan Pflugh, Randy McDonald and Highland killed the game off.

Redbacks pulled one back in the seventh inning, but the 10-run mercy rule came into play to leave the hosts victors ahead of their trip to Billerica on Sunday.

Sykes ready to take on world

LARISSA Sykes will be aiming to continue an impressive year when she makes her debut at an ISSF World Cup event this weekend.

The 16-year-old Great Watting shooter (left) will be taking part in the 10m air rifle on Sunday and the three positions 50m air rifle on Monday in Granada, Spain.

Sykes started the year at the Australia Youth Olympic Festival, earning a bronze medal in the three positions event and has since become the junior women's British champion as well as the English and Welsh junior women's champion in the 10m air rifle.

She is also the junior British champion for the three positions, the English junior and senior three positions champion and is the junior champion for Air England – finishing second in the overall seniors' competition.

There will be more than 80 of the world's best shooters at the event in Spain, and Sykes said: "My aims are to shoot to the highest standard I am capable of."

"I want to enjoy the experience of my first world cup event and it would be silly not to say to win a medal as all athletes want that. But getting the experience is my main aim."

Dellar stars in emphatic win

ADAM Dellar carried his bat as Haverhill ran out winners by eight wickets at home to Coggeshall in the Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship, Division One.

Nigel Brunning and Anthony Phillips paved the way with hauls of 3 for 31 and 3 for 40 respectively as the visitors were all out for 125.

In reply, opener Dellar smashed 78 not out in an unbeaten partnership of 86 with Luke Youngs as they won with 128 for 2.

Captain Simon Youngs said: "This was our best all-round display of the season and I'm delighted with the lads."

"Our bowling and fielding was top draw and then Adam destroyed them with a class innings."

Andy Brightmore's unbeaten century ensured Weston Colville overcame Fordham in the Tucker Gardner Cambs & Hunts Premier League, Division Two.

His 101 and Paul Dean's 53 took Colville's total to 240 for 5.

Fordham were then bowled out for 116, Joe Robins taking 4 for 49. Dan Goldsmith hammered 165 as Horseheath racked up a big score of 351 for 8 in their 174-run drubbing of bottom club Babraham in Mr Cricket CCA Senior League, Division One.

The skipper led by example with a dynamic knock at the top of the order and was well supported by fellow opener Martin Farrant, who clobbered 110.

Both eventually fell victim to Chris Wright, who took 5 for 73, while vice-captain Gary Ellis added 34 to set a formidable challenge to the visitors.

Tom McNulty put in a spirited display with 57, but Martin Giles claimed 3 for 19 as Babraham were bowled out for 177.

Ellis said: "It's happened to us a few times this season where 100s have gone against us, so it was nice to have the boot on the other foot."

"Dan played absolutely brilliantly and at one stage we were 260 for 0 off 30 overs and thinking we could even beat our record score of 427, which is also a Senior League record to the best of my knowledge."

■ A nailbiting encounter between Haverhill and Weston Colville under-15s went right down to the wire, with the latter just edging home to victory.

Weston Colville batted first and Ed Coppen (46 not out) and William Tooke (41) put on a partnership of 82 for the second wicket before the latter was dismissed by Haverhill skipper Josh Ruthven's bowling.

With Harry Tiplady then coming to the crease and adding an unbeaten 32, Weston Colville's final total stood at 125 for 3 off 20 overs.

Opener Ben Eames went for a duck as Haverhill's run-chase got off to the worst possible start but Tom Baker (21) and Ruthven (48) steadied the ship.

Ben Shannon (36 not out) and Will Bailey got within six runs before the latter lost his wicket on the penultimate ball.

Needing six to tie off the last ball, Sam Street attempted to send the ball beyond the boundary rope but was bowled by George Franklin.

Their score remained on 129 for 5 and Weston Colville ran out winners.

■ Haverhill under-11s qualified for the final of the Borders Junior Cricket League Knock-out Cup with a 47-run win over Weston Colville.

Colville put Haverhill in to bat but a strong partnership between Zak Bailey and Alexander Parker piled on the runs.

Charlie Page-Blair and Hugo Thompson then finished the innings off strongly with some good running between the wickets to take Haverhill to 263 for 4.

Colville were quickly in trouble in reply after good bowling by Parker and Page-Blair and some sharp fielding and excellent catches by George Shannon and Connor Smith meant the Colville innings ended on 216 for 6.

Haverhill will now face Hundon in the final on July 14.

Record-equalling Ellis takes title

IAN Ellis won the professional prize at Haverhill Golf Club's Pro-Am.

The Costessey Park Golf Club member scored six-under-par 64 to equal the course record set by Neil Lythgoe in 2011.

Bury Golf Range's Lawrence Dodd was second with 65 and Phil Abbott, from John O'Gaunt Golf Club, was third on countback from Brett Taylor and Jonathan Fryatt (Thorpe Hall) after all three scored 68.

The team competition was played in medal format, with the best two scores counting on each hole, and had to be decided on countback.

Dodd's team of Dean Fairweather, Des Halil and 12-year-old Alfie Halil were first with a better back nine score of 59 in their total of 124.

Rayleigh Golf Range's Mark Stokes' team of Elaine Cochrane, Sonya Baterip and Steve Allen were runners-up after scoring 63 on the back nine.

The team of Bishop's Stortford's Ben Cooper of Alan Abbott, Chris Foster and Stephen Cooper were third with 126.

■ Mary Sail just had the edge in the Midweek Stableford as she pipped Lyn Fish to top spot on countback after both scored 31 points. Leah Nichols was third with 29.

But Fish responded by winning the Saturday Medal with 31 points, four better than Pauline Calmet. Pat Wellstead was third with 25.

Paul Hinchliffe was the runaway winner of the Men's IFF Challenge, taking Division One with 42 points and hitting the lowest gross score of 73. Nicky Weller was second with 39 and Kim Ward third with 38.

Howard Craven was first in Division Two with 38 points. Stuart Haworth pipped Ollie Fish to second on countback after both scored 35.

Kelvin Ellam triumphed in Division Three with 37, one ahead of Paul Sharpe. Peter Knights was third with 34.

Haverhill's ladies team are through to the second round of the Cranworth Cup after beating Diss at The Suffolk.

Sheila Price and Nicole Pike won 2&1, Doreen Darbey and Theresa Spittle triumphed one up and Catie Heathfield and Sally Price halved to give Haverhill a 2½-½ lead at lunchtime.

Singles victories for Heathfield (4&3), Price (6&4) and Darbey (whose opponent conceded through injury) saw Haverhill over the line with a 5½-3½.

Pike, Spittle and Price were all beaten. Haverhill will face Ufford Park in the quarter-finals at Bury St Edmunds on July 25.
